Charles L. Boynton Completes Compilation of Code Book for Mission Boards

That work which was rushed to completion in 18 hours before the time elapses, was the rather hard experience enjoyed by Charles L. Boynton in compiling a code book for the use of the Foreign Mission Boards of North America.

Mr. Boynton, who was quoted in an interview in the Star-Bulletin of last September concerning the publication of the Y. M. C. A. in China, was to come to the United States and work out a long-needed code book for the use of the mission boards. The work which Mr. Boynton had to do was to compile a code book for the use of the mission boards. The work which Mr. Boynton had to do was to compile a code book for the use of the mission boards.

The prospect of the work was not a pleasant one, but Mr. Boynton, who has been here since the arrival of the Nippon Maru last Friday, will leave for the Orient on the Mongolia when it sails tomorrow morning. He goes to China this time as general statistician for the mission boards of North America. Mrs. Boynton and a small son go with him.

THEATRICAL OFFERINGS

GIRL SAVES TRAIN BY WILD RIDE

J. P. McGowan's "Helen's Sacrifice," with Helen Holmes and Edith Clisbee in the leading roles, will be shown at the Empire Theater today. Appointed night operator at Lone Point, Helen learns that the daughter of Benton, the day operator, is critically ill. A splendid railroad drama has been staged in the production. A fast freight is ordered sidetracked to make way for a passenger train carrying hundreds of excursionists.

Miss Holmes, as Helen, relieves the operator. She reads the message received by the day operator to discover the freight has passed the given point and is rapidly nearing the train filled with people. The daring young women astride a horse, takes a short cut to the expected meeting place. Leaping from her horse to the platform of the locomotive cab, she is in time to avert a terrible catastrophe. The story is one of a series of adventures in which Miss Holmes takes a leading part.

A fine comedy in two parts, featuring Flora Finch, Jay Diggins and other fun-makers, will be a headliner. Diggins is rated in the moving picture world as the second John Bunny. These stars will appear in "Mary Jane Entertains."

"The Abyss" is a wonderful drama, bristling with sensational scenes. It is one of the new photoplays by Louis Wilmart.

THURSDAY TO BE AD CLUB NIGHT AT YE LIBERTY

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Ad Club, held yesterday, J. D. Levenson, acting president, during the absence of President W. R. Farrington, appointed a sub-committee to take charge of the details of the next "Ad Club night" which will be Thursday, September 2. This occasion will be celebrated at the Liberty theater, when a special Ad Club film will be thrown on the screen, in addition to the usual program for the evening. The committee consists of W. C. Hodges, chairman, C. D. Wright and R. E. Lambert.

This film was especially prepared for the advertising organizations of America and depicts the adventures which befall a certain Mr. Noad who, while wandering in the "realms of Nemo," was granted one wish by Neptune. Being pestered, as he thought, by advertising men, Mr. Noad wished that there should be no advertising. His wish was granted, the ruler of the land of Pluto interpreting advertising as meaning the making public of any fact.

This is said to be an exceptionally fine film and the members of the Ad Club and all the friends thereof should turn out in great numbers Thursday evening, making things as successful as are all of the events headed by the Ad Club.

Tickets will be on sale at the theater, and the prices will remain the same as those usually prevailing at the Liberty.

MANAGER HERTSCHE SUSPENDS SEASIDE SATURDAY DANCES

Manager Hertsche of the Seaside hotel has been annoyed of late by a few undesirables who have in a measure spoiled the enjoyment of the Saturday night dances that have been held at this popular beach hotel. "We have many friends who come to these dances for a good time," said Mr. Hertsche, "and I like to see them. But some of the have complained to me that a certain element has started to come which does not add to the pleasure of the dances nor to the selectness of the occasions. There seems to be only one way to stop this and that is to temporarily discontinue the dances until a new plan can be worked out which will eliminate this nuisance." "In the meantime we will continue at the Seaside to serve the same excellent special Saturday night dinners, with Kaal's orchestra in attendance during the evening."—Adv.

GOLDFIELD RUSH FILM AT POPULAR

"The Lone Star Rush" will open tonight at the Popular theater for a week's run, and the usual mid-week matinee will take place tomorrow afternoon.

This is a picture adapted from the novel of the same name by Edmund Mitchell, which tells a story of the great Australian gold fields. The photo-play is in five parts and the plot deals with an attempt of unprincipled prospectors to rob two brothers of a valuable claim. From all parts of the world the gold seekers are lured to the fields by a combination of rascally speculators and the complications that come out of this situation up to the time the hero of the picture really locates pay gold.
